

A PLACE AT THE TABLE

Food Justice; Disability Rights: The ADA @ 25

Dr. Anne Bellows, Graduate Program Director and Professor, Food Studies

Professor Arlene Kanter, Director, Disability Law and Policy Program, Bond Schoneck & King Distinguished Professor of Law,
Meredith Professor of Teaching Excellence, College of Law

Dr. Evan Weissman, Assistant Professor, Food Studies

Moderated by Dr. Diane R. Wiener, Director, Disability Cultural Center

Date: Friday, October 16th

Time: 11:30AM-1:00PM

Location: Hoople 106

American Sign Language (ASL) interpretation and gluten free food and Kosher food will be provided.
Please indicate any accommodation requests by 10/9/2015 to sudcc@syr.edu.

Sponsors: Disability Cultural Center, Lisa Thomas at Health Services, the Disability Student Union, Falk College of Sport and Human Dynamics, the Food Studies Program, and the Disability Law and Policy Program at the College of Law.

This event is made possible through the Co-Curricular Departmental Initiatives program within the Division of Student Affairs.

A PLACE AT THE TABLE

Food is an incredibly important part of many cultures around the world. In what ways do cultures shape our relationships with food? What happens when dietary restrictions, allergies, disabilities, ethics, values, principals, religion, and preferences collide with the cultural norms about food and eating? This ongoing luncheon series will explore these questions while also providing a more normalized eating environment for those routinely left out of food culture. In other words, everyone has a place at the table.

